

2016 CALIFORNIA CHAMPIONS

NARAL
Pro-Choice California

of CHOICE

When reproductive freedom is at risk, we can't settle for quiet allies. We need champions who will put their power to work to protect our rights.

We need people who won't be intimidated by virulent opposition, because they understand what's at stake. Reproductive freedom is about our economic security, our career paths, our ability to determine our futures.

The 2016 champions of choice are a shining example of just this kind of leadership. As we enter uncertain and unsettling political times, we need more people to follow their example and fight for us in every city and county, in every courtroom and cultural outlet.

ATTORNEY GENERAL KAMALA HARRIS

REPRODUCTIVE RIGHTS DEFENDER

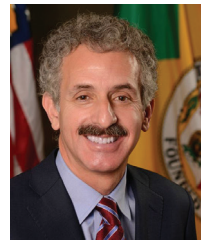

Kamala Harris capped off her stellar pro-choice record as California Attorney General defending our victory in passing the Reproductive FACT Act from an onslaught of anti-choice lawsuits. Multimillion dollar conservative organizations filed five separate lawsuits to block a common-sense law requiring posting of reproductive health information. Kamala Harris and her team defended the law vigorously and won a major victory when the 9th Circuit Court refused to block enforcement of the law. She has always stood up for women and we're thrilled to see what she accomplishes in the US Senate.

LOS ANGELES CITY ATTORNEY MIKE FEUER

WOMEN'S HEALTH ENFORCER

While other California cities froze in the face of anti-choice legal bullying, LA City Attorney Mike Feuer took aggressive action to protect women's health. Thanks to his efforts to proactively enforce the NARAL-sponsored Reproductive FACT Act, every single pregnancy center in the city of LA is in compliance. His pro-choice leadership will ensure that women in LA get critical information about their reproductive health options.

OAKLAND CITY ATTORNEY BARBARA PARKER AND VICE MAYOR ANNIE CAMPBELL WASHINGTON

FIGHTING ANTI-CHOICE LIES

Anti-choice crisis pregnancy centers recklessly lie to trick women seeking abortion care into hearing their manipulative and medically inaccurate pitch. Barbara Parker and Annie Campbell Washington put Oakland on record as only the 2nd city in the country to create specific penalties for crisis pregnancy centers that endanger women's health through false advertising.
